OBITUARY OF MRS. SATTERFIELD.

When death called at the home of Oscar Satterfield, on North Main street Thursday of last week and Mrs. Jane Tamm Satterfield, answering the summons, passed into eternal life, a devoted mother, faithful wife and most worthy neighbor and friend ceased to be known to those she loved on earth except in memory. To her death came quietly, painlessly and without protest on her part. For years she has been ready to pay the debt of nature and willingly she accepted the change. In her case a worthy life is worthily ended and those of her family and friends who remain have only pleasant recollections of what she was and the good she accomplished.

Jane Tamm Satterfield was born at Martinsburg, Virginia, June 12th 1820. In her native place her childhood and girlhood years were spent. On June 1st, 1848 she was united in marriage with James P. Satterfield and very soon thereafter they moved to Ohio. About 1851 they located at Cedarville, where the family resided almost continuously up to the present time. Until his death, which occurred August 31st, 1902, Mr. Satterfield was recognized as a worthy citizen, capable and conscientious in all the transactions of life.

To their union five children were born, viz., Robinson, Stewart, Collett, Oscar, and Edith. Robinson died August 6, 1883; Stewart resides at Atlanta, Logan county, Illinois, where he is engaged in business and where he has served efficiently as a member of the county board; Collett has for years been a prosperous business man of Los Angeles, Cal.; Oscar, who is well known and respected in this county is engaged in the mail service, and Edith is Mrs. W. H. Blair of Loveland, Ohio. Death coming after an illness of less than two days, Collett, on account of the distance from her bedside was the only one of the surviving children unable to attend the funeral.

From her earliest years Mrs. Satterfield was religiously inclined and early sought the consolation of religion by uniting with the M. E. church of which, up to the time of her death she remained a devout and earnest member. Not only was she scrupulous in the discharge of all her religious duties but the duties she owed to her fellow creatures—to humanity, commanded her earnest zeal. She took a prominent part in the great temperance crusade of thirty-five years ago.

Of the thirteen children born to her parents, she was the twelfth to die. Only one now remains Mrs. J. P. Brown of Van Wert, Ohio. One brother, Joseph M. Milburn was for a number of years postmaster of Xenia, Ohio. He died last October. Another brother, Rev. W. D. Milburn died two years ago in Xenia. The funeral took place from the M. E. church of Cedarville, Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock, the services being conducted by Dr. H. C. Middleton, the pastor, assisted by Revs. McChesney and Sanderson, and was attended by a very large proportion of the population of the village. The floral offerings were numerous and beautiful many of the pieces coming from friends in various parts of the state. One is especially worthy of mention, coming from the associates in the mail service of Oscar Satterfield, son of the deceased. Among those from abroad who attended the funeral was Dr. J. W. Brown and wife of Van Wert, and Mrs. J. P. Brown, sister of the deceased. While death has stilled the form and closed the lips of this estimable woman, the good that permeated the years of her life on earth, still remains to benefit those whom she came in contact while here.

TWO DAMAGE SUITS.

Mrs. F. D. Alexander, wife of the well known Xenia merchant has filed suit against the Dayton and Xenia Transit Co., and the C. H. and D. Railway Co., for $5000 for injuries received last November at the Ludlow street crossing in Dayton, when a traction car was struck by a C. H. & D. engine. Negligence is charged upon each of the defendant companies. Mrs. Alexander was badly disabled.

Samuel Ford, who was on the car at the time and suffered injuries has brought suit for $2500 damages. W. L. Miller filed both suits.

DECLINED THE CALL.

Rev. James M. McQuilken of the First U. P. church, Chicago, who was called to Carnegie, Pa., has declined the call.

Rev. Alvin Orr of the Norris Square United Presbyterian church in Philadelphia has also declined the offer of the secretaryship of the Men's League. The Norris Square congregation is much attached to Rev. Orr and his decision to remain was pleasing to his people.

THIS IS WORTH SAVING.

The following simple home made mixture is said to relieve any form of Rheumatism or backache, also cleanse and strengthen the Kidneys and Bladder, overcoming all urinary disorders, if taken before the stage of Bright's disease. Fluid Extract Dandelion, one-half ounce, Compound Kargon, one ounce; Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla, three ounces. Mix by shaking well in a bottle and take in teaspoonful doses after meals and at bedtime.

A well known authority states that these ingredients are mainly of vegetable extraction and harmless to use, and can be obtained at small cost from any good subscription pharmacy. Those who think they have kidney trouble or suffer with lame back or weak bladder or Rheumatism, should give this prescription a trial, as no harm can possibly follow its use, and it is said to do wonders for some people.

MUST REFUND ALL MONEY.

The Ohio supreme court yesterday held that although the legislature repealed the direct inheritance tax the money that had been paid by estates would have to be returned. The court held that estates in court pending settlement at the time the law was repealed were also exempt. The court decision is along the line of the public sentiment, for people in this state are decidedly opposed to this tax.

MUST REPAIR LINE.

The State Railway Commission has made a ruling by which the Dayton & Xenia Transit Company has been ordered to fix up the Rapid Transit line within 90 days. The residents along the line of the road have been seeking to bring the company to terms on account of inadequate service for a long time. Finally employing Attorney Charles Davidson of this city, who brought the matter before the Commission. Besides ordering the traction company to fix up and repair the line it orders it to put on sanitary cars and operate them in an adequate and regular manner. It is quite a victory for the residents along the right of way who have fought the traction company in an effort to get better service for a long time past.

HAUL STRAW AT NIGHT.

The paper mill teams made their first trip Wednesday night on a new change to avoid hauling when the roads are soft. During the bright moonlight nights the men can load and do their work as easily as in the day time. The first trip was made below Painterville.

REV. ATKINSON IN XENIA.

A report is current that Rev. Ralph Atkinson, who held a series of meetings here some time ago, is to come to Xenia for three weeks in June. It is also stated that the meetings will be held in a tent large enough to accommodate the people. All the churches in the city are expected to take part.

SELMA.

John G. Gano of Jamestown was a visitor here, last Thursday.

N. V. Bransen is out again after a siege of the grippe.

Joe Negus and family visited at Gladstone, Sunday.

Bert Tindall, who has been sick for several weeks, is reported better.

Miss Blanche Lawther of Springfield, is supplying in the school on account of the illness of Miss Glass.

Considerable sickness prevails among the school children viz. grippe and hard colds.

John S. Brown rec'd. 7 sold the Wm. Thorne farm of 67 acres south of town to Mr. Curry for $6000. Mr. Thorne expects to locate in Selma.

Miss Glass, teacher in High school here, was taken sick last Wednesday and returned to her home in Dayton where on later report her illness is pneumonia.

THEATRE NOTES.

The Fairbanks Theatre, Springfield, Ohio, will offer on Saturday, March 9th, matinee and night, the well known musical comedy comedian, Arthur Dunn in a new production "The Little Joker." Mr. Dunn will be recalled as one of the chief elements in the great success attained by the musical comedy, "The Runaway Girl." In this piece he contrived fun at every turn, developing comic effects from all the material falling into his hands. In "The Little Joker" he accomplishes the same result. The piece is one of the new musical farces that has met with great popularity this season. It was written with an especial view to giving Mr. Dunn complete opportunity for his particular line of comedy. In this it succeeds admirably. The situations, songs and lines are all of the kind that this comedian is capable of transforming into effects causing screaming laughter. The rest of the production is one of the adequate character. The scenery is especially rich and lavish and the same quality extends to the costumes. The chorus is a large one and is not only attractive in appearance, but possesses pleasing singing voices.

TWO MOTHERS.

Of all the editorials that have been given the public on the Harry Thaw murder trial we have not yet found one along the line of the two mothers. Much has been written, for and against Thaw and his victim Stanford White, but probably nothing more truthful than what the editor of the Springfield Daily News has to say under the caption "Two Mothers."

"Mrs. William Thaw, mother of Harry Thaw, was rich—extremely rich. Mrs. Holman, the mother of Evelyn Nesbit, had not the means to maintain the standard of living she had adopted. Mrs. Thaw made of her son a useless spendthrift, who was eventually landed in jail for murder. Mrs. Holman made of her daughter a useless, senseless creature, a devoid of shame, peddling her charms to the highest bidder—for that is what it amounted to. So that both Harry Thaw and his wife have their mothers to blame."

But what a difference between these two mothers. Mrs. Thaw shaped her boy for a felon's call through love for him. With the mother-love that makes an angel out of a human being, she sits by the side of her boy, grieving for him, sacrificing for him, enduring all things for him. Mrs. Holman deserted her daughter as soon as the proceeds of her shame were no longer forthcoming, and somewhere in the city, isolated she sits and reads the papers about the case. Not only that, but she seems to be helping in the prosecution of her daughter's husband, and has no word of hope or love for the child to whom she gave life and then sacrificed upon the altar of Mammon. The whole world grieves for poor old Mrs. Thaw, misgiving as she was in rearing her boy—for it cannot be forgotten that he was a spoiled child, humored and petted and permitted to grow up in idleness and crime. The whole world has nothing but condemnation for Mrs. Holman, who was as unnatural a mother as Mrs. Thaw was a natural mother.

And how could any thing be expected of either Harry Thaw or his wife? The former after he became of age, was given $50,000 per year to spend. He did not have to account to any one for a penny of it. He had never been taught to work, and had never earned a cent. The whole world was his play ground; he had no workshop. In all of his printed history there is but one good deed—the killing of the pervert, White—and that was against the law of God and man. If he is acquitted, it will not be because the jury does not believe that he committed an unlawful act, but because those twelve men will take into consideration the nature of the victim, and the provocation, and display its sympathy by turning loose the wielder of the pistol.

Evelyn Nesbit Thaw is to be more severely pitied than any other character in the drama. It requires a heroine of a mother to bring to womanhood, unspoiled, a beautiful daughter. At best, a girl of fourteen or sixteen or eighteen, unless she has had the strictest disciplining is an unsafe proposition. The glitter and tinsel of the world attract her. Her reasoning faculties are at most only embryonic. Her most serious thoughts have been of ribbons and jewelry. Perhaps she has read a few light books. All that she has seen of life, of the world, is only the pollen of the flower blown across her path. Given a mercenary mother, a dyed of principle or shame, a scheming, treacherous, soulless, faithless creature, and the child stands no more chance of going through the world unscathed than a jelly would stand a show of its life in a bog pond.

Such were the environments of this frail creature, anything for the villains, a toy for the perverted, a bauble for men who have been compelled by nature to crawl through the world like snakes, instead of standing erect. There was no hope for Evelyn Nesbit from the moment Nature decided to endow her with a perfect form and pleasing features. Her doom was sealed every moment her mother continued to live. Nothing could have saved her but the death of that woman and the transferring of the child into other and more holy hands. The world should not be surprised at the revelations in her life, no more than it should be surprised to know that the rippling brook is only seeking its way to the sea as it gurgles in the sunshine.

It is perhaps unfortunate that two roads, so different in their direction in the beginning, should lead to the same pool of trouble, as is the case with Mrs. Thaw and Mrs. Holman but it is the law. And it is still more unfortunate that the good woman, the one whose heart was right, but whose head was wrong, should be the one to suffer the more, for it is not recorded that Mrs. Holman is enduring any pangs of remorse. But that also is the law.

DEATH OF P. E. BANCROFT.

Death came suddenly last Saturday evening to P. E. Bancroft, the oldest native resident of Springfield. Death was due to heart trouble. He had not been well for some time but was able to be about. He was 86 years of age and came of English parentage.

Fifty-six years ago he entered in business for himself and the business is still being conducted from the same stand from which he started. Some few years ago his only son, Robert O., was placed in charge of the business.

The deceased has during his life witnessed many changes in Springfield. He took prominent part in her early development. He was a hatter by trade having entered in the business when he made his own stock for his trade. As a furrier he was an expert judge.

RETIRE MONDAY.

Congressman-elect M. R. Denver who succeeds T. E. Scroggy, of Xenia, will be sworn in and enter upon the duties of congressman from the Sixth District on March 4th. However, the regular session of the next congress will not convene until next December, and Mr. Denver's presence in Washington will not be required until that time, unless there should be a special session of congress in the meantime, which is not probable. Mr. Denver will probably go to Washington some days in advance of the 4th of March to form the acquaintance of his fellow members in the coming congress.—Xenia Republican.

THE WELD THAT HELD

Science has developed something infinitely better than the old-style wrap or olamp.

"PITTSBURGH PERFECT" FENCES ARE WELDED BY ELECTRICITY.

This is the modern method of construction. Years of life are added through the elimination of serious fence defects.

A WRAP holds moisture, cracks the galvanizing and allows the water to attack the bare wire. A small amount of displaced galvanizing on "PITTSBURGH PERFECT" REINFORCES THE PROTECTION AGAINST RUST AT THE ELECTRICALLY WELDED JOINT; examine the joint.

STAYS CANNOT SLIP. They are always just where they were put. Stay and strand wires become one piece when the rod is made. The fence is like a solid sheet of perforated steel.

Every Rod is Guaranteed Perfect.

Don't allow your prejudice in favor of the rapidly-declining and now antiquated methods you have heretofore known, to warp your good judgment.

"PITTSBURGH PERFECT" FENCES REPRESENT PROGRESS, because hundreds of thousands of dollars worth of standard material is daily welded by electricity.

The hoop on the average sugar barrel in the isolated country grocery store is an electrically welded product.

If your wagon was made in a large factory, its tires would be welded by electricity.

You will find electrically welded hoops on ice cream freezers and washing machines, on many tubs and buckets. Examine them.

"PITTSBURGH PERFECT" fences are made by this modern, simple and marvelous process, producing "THE WELD THAT HELD."

MR. FARMER: LISTEN, NOW. Every agent handling "PITTSBURGH PERFECT" fences is authorized to guarantee this:

That the wires are not injured at the joints.

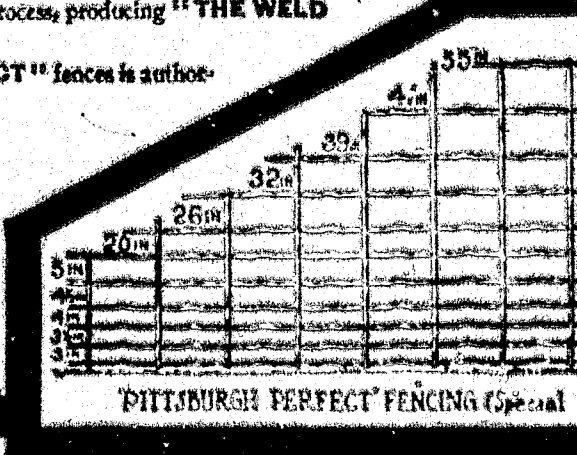

That the fence is perfectly adjustable to uneven ground.

That the stays will not separate from the strands.

That the fence is all right in every particular.

Could you ask any more definite protection? Your complete satisfaction is absolutely assured.
